

An easy-to-use task management application that boosts efficiency

Running a business is tough. Customers want more, for less, in the shortest amount of time. Effective communication between managers and their employees is critical to business success.

Introducing MiX Go, a feature of MiX Fleet Manager and an innovative task management application for effective communication and engagement with mobile fieldworkers.

No more broken telephone.

MiX Go combines all the benefits of navigation, tracking and template-driven e-forms. Managers can create tasks for their employees via the MiX Telematics web platform, and keep an eye on the progress of these tasks from start to finish.

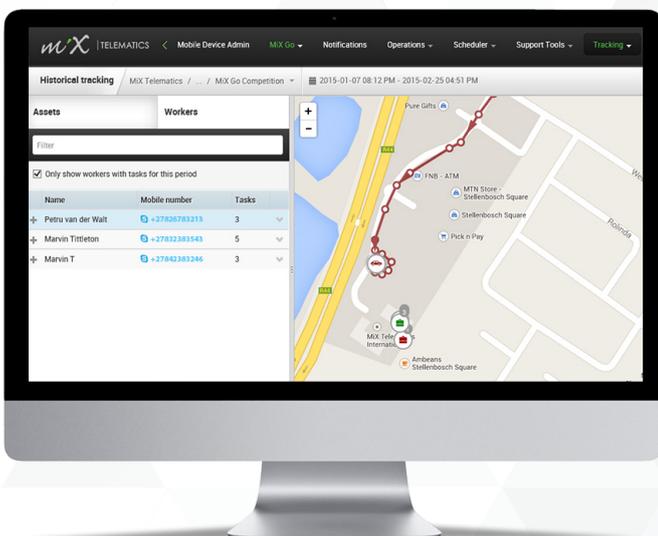

Employees receive these tasks via their mobile devices and, in turn, can input job details and customer information, or report problems while they're out and about. The productivity, customer service and cost benefits are quick to realise, providing a major competitive advantage for MiX Go users worldwide.

Still your business, just better.

Convenience, reduced costs, improved productivity and efficiency are some of the major advantages offered by MiX Go.

The template builder, for example, allows users to set up unique tasks, processes and workflows. Customers and operators can input their signatures on screen, indicating the completion of a task, while all tasks performed can be validated with a GPS position.

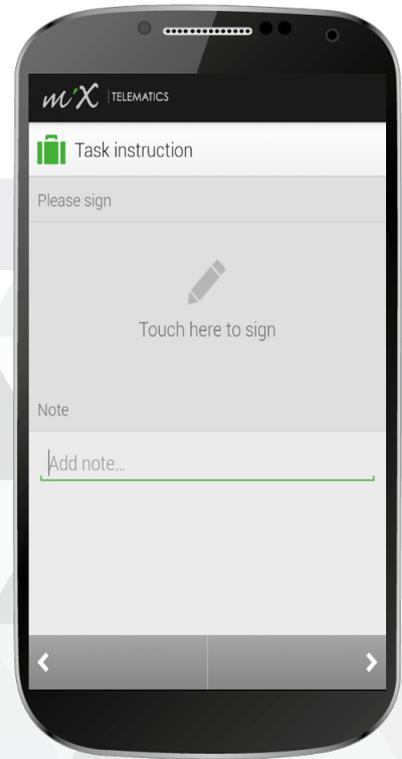

Processes become streamlined and jobs become easier, while administrative time spent on daily tasks becomes less, as does the need for exhaustive communication. Even sub-contractors can be included when they connect using their own Android devices – it's that simple!
